Attracting Bluebirds to Your Backyard

Like many songbirds, the eastern bluebird suffered a population decline during the mid-1900s from pressures related to habitat loss and competition from other species. Happily, in recent years, thanks to the efforts of bird-lovers across the region, these dashing and brilliantly colored birds are making a comeback. Join us Monday evening, March 13th at 6:30 for a talk by local enthusiast Nancy Putt to learn what you can do to attract bluebirds to your yard.

Origami for Kids

Starting in March, the Library will be hosting a monthly origami program for kids ages 8 and up. Ms. Jackie Bickley will teach the art of Japanese paper folding on the third Wednesday of the month from 5:30-7:30 pm. Beginners are welcome. Please call 717-432-5613 to register for this free program.

Meet the Staff—Lynn Michels

Lynn is the newest addition to the Library's staff, primarily working Saturday afternoons. She and her husband moved to Dillsburg about six years ago. After retiring from being a nurse practitioner, Lynn became a regular library volunteer. She enjoys reading novels about modern women overcoming life challenges, and frequently browses our cookbooks for new and interesting recipes. In addition to cooking, she enjoys making wine, knitting, and walking to her favorite spots around town. Please welcome Lynn to our staff!

Pasta Dinner Fundraiser

The Kiwanis Kids will be hosting a Pasta Dinner Friday March 24th from 5:00—7:00 pm at the Dillsburg Elementary School. The meal is a bargain at $8 per person for pasta, meatballs, salad, drinks and desserts! Proceeds from the dinner and a Kids Used Book Sale benefit the Library. Join us for a nice evening out.
