Highlighting a Talented Volunteer

Lou Ann Kauffman has been a library volunteer since she retired from the PA State System of Higher Education 17 years ago. While at the library, Lou Ann empties the book drop and makes sure each book is checked in as well as checking in books that have been delivered from other libraries or dropped off during her shift. She happily checks patrons out and assists with their questions and when there is time, she pulls books from our shelves that need to be sent to other libraries or placed on hold for one of our patrons.

When Lou Ann is not volunteering at the library, she enjoys quilting, sewing and spending time at her family cabin in Huntingdon County. She also facilitates a weekly women's Bible study at her church. While Lou Ann is certainly a busy lady, she always makes time for her husband of 51 years, Mike, their son, Mitch and his wife, Missy, as well as their two grandchildren, Reese and Jordan.
