When is the right time to move? Where do I move?

If you thought about any of these questions, Ginie Kite, a Seniors Real Estate Specialist® realtor, will help you explore options as she presents a no-pressure approach to older adult real estate needs, including buying a new home or condo, moving to a senior life plan community, or aging in place. For more information about the program, you can contact Ginie by calling her at 717-356-3774 or emailing her, ginie@ginniekitegroup.com.

Financial and Civic & Social Literacies

This month sees the return of our 'One for the Money' Book Discussion. I will be joined by Brooke from M&T Bank in Wrightsville to lead a discussion of Kristin Hannah's The Four Winds, an epic novel of love, heroism and hope set during the Great Depression. We invite you to join us and learn strategies to achieve your financial goals in good times & bad. Lunch will be provided.

Given that 47% of credit card holders carry a credit card balance and 22% have been contacted by a debt collection agency in the last year, it is a good time to talk about responsible budgeting, spending and saving skills!

Also back by popular demand is Ginnie Kite, a Senior Real Estate Specialist®, who will present two information sessions designed to address all your moving process questions.

All of these programs feature the opportunity to increase your Financial Literacy and Civic & Social Literacy. Your library provides you with the knowledge and skills you need to improve your life and the lives of those you love and thereby move Pennsylvania forward.

Winter Sowing in a Milk Jug with Deb Flinchbaugh

Thursday, March 14th
6:30 pm - 7:45 pm

Join Deb Flinchbaugh as she shares how to prepare for spring by sowing seeds during the winter using a simple milk jug. Winter sowing is an easy, simple, inexpensive way to sow seeds. Plant the seeds indoors, and then just pop them outside in a sunny location and let nature take its course.

No need to RSVP. Just drop in and bring a friend!

Cookbook Group

March's Theme: Citrus

Thurs. March 28, 2024
6:00 pm - 7:45 pm

Citrus is the added tang in so many recipes from Lemon Chicken, to guacamole, and, of course, Lemon Meringue Pie. Join our Cookbook Discussion Group for some taste-testing with other cooking enthusiasts. Bring your prepared item (savory or sweet) and a copy of the recipe to share with others. Interested?

Give us a call at the library 717.252.4080.

All are welcome!
